Narrator: Paul heard that the church in Corinth had some problems. People were arguing and forgetting to cooperate to show their city God's love. So he told them a story that he hoped would help them understand.

EYE: I am the EYE. I am the GREATEST in the WHOLE BODY. Without me, you couldn't see anything beautiful!

Chorus: You're definitely the most important!

EAR: I am the EAR. I am the GREATEST in the WHOLE BODY. Without me, you couldn't hear music or birds singing!

Chorus: You're definitely the most important!

FOOT: I am the FOOT, well FEET. I am the GREATEST in the WHOLE BODY! Without me you couldn't run and skip and jump!

Chorus: You're definitely the most important!

NOSE: I am the NOSE. Without me, you'd never smell again!

Narrator: Hmm . . . not a bad idea.

Chorus: You're definitely the most important!

Narrator: All the body parts argued about being the greatest. They wanted every other part to look like them.

EYE: Okay EARS, see those targets there? You're going to stare at them so we can walk straight.

EARS: Nope, don't see anything.

Narrator: CRASH! The whole body went down on the ground.

FEET: Okay NOSE, help us get up off of the floor!

NOSE: I'm trying! I'm trying! I just can't do it!

Narrator: So the body was just stuck there on the ground in a big pile of . . .

NOSE: Does anyone smell that?

EAR: No. Thank goodness.

Narrator: Just like our bodies need to cooperate to get us where we need to go, the people in the church need to cooperate to point people to Jesus and fulfill our mission of loving everyone.

All: THE END
